Six decades after Pearl Harbor, the remains of intact aircraft still lie hidden around the vast expanses of Pacific jungles. Historically, these World War II relics and their legacies are priceless, and many are preserved as the war left them, cocooned by jungle regrowth, and forgotten, that is, until Pacific Ghosts came along.

Created by Justin Taylan, the founder of www.pacificwrecks.com, and Michael Claringbould, esteemed 5th Air Force historian, author, and president of www.aerotherentic.com, the Pacific Ghosts CD-ROM features hundreds of color photographs of wreck sites today, vintage photos of World War II aircraft, "walkaround" videos of the abandoned relics, maps, and more. The CD highlights both American and Japanese wrecks, and each of the more than thirty aircraft profiled has its own fascinating story. The entire disc is accompanied by over seventy minutes of expert narration by historian Claringbould along with the most detailed historical texts ever published on each of the profiled aircraft.

The Pacific Ghosts CD-ROM is available for $26.50 and is PC and Mac compatible. For more details and ordering information, visit www.pacificghosts.com. Mention you learned of Pacific Ghosts in Ghost Wings and get a free 8 x 10 wreck photograph with your order!
